

To whom it may Concern,

I am happy with the current no call rule! I am a single mother who has precious little time to enjoy with my kids and "I do not want to be disturbed by telemarketers". It is my right to put my number on a list and say do not call me. I am tired of business trying to push themselves into my life. If I want to contact a business I will call them. With the no call rules in place I have seen a huge decrease in calls we can enjoy the evenings and share as a family not run for stupid calls.

It is a right as a home owner of a number to say no I want my number left alone and not called by businesses. It is not a right of a business to harass individuals for business. Please leave our law alone and let me have peace and quiet.
